3 AUTO BANDITS CAUGHT

AUTO STALLING ON MUD ROAD CAUSES ARREST OF 3 BANDITS AT TINLEY PARK THURSDAY

Three auto thieves created a great deal of excitement at Tinley Park Thursday afternoon. They had stolen a car from a Manhattan man earlier in the day and were heading for Chicago when they got stuck on a mud road near the Herman Wanne-macher farm. The Manhattan marshall had telephoned about the country giving details about the robbery and a description of the suspected thieves. Mr. Wanne-macher had heard of this and when the men abandoned the car and headed for Tinley Park, he became suspicious and telephoned the Tinley Park authorities to watch for them. Officer Fred Schmiedeknecht and Supervisor Henry Bruggemann were on the lookout. Two of the thieves were caught in the Beatty Lumber Yard and one on the street. As they were nabbed unawares they had no chance to put up a fight. Upon being searched a revolver was found on one of the thieves. The trio ranged from 25 to 35 years of age. They were taken to the county jail at Joliet as the robbery took place in Will County.

Tinley Park and Bremen township had one of the most hotly contested elections held in many years, Tuesday. Over 1650 votes were polled. The following candidates were elected: For supervisor, Otto Ziebel, 242 majority; for highway commissioner, John Beitenhausen, 251 majority; for town clerk, Chas. Nielsen, 397 majority; for assessor, Wm. Maue, 533 majority; for tax collector, Bert Fulton, 190 majority, although there were three other candidates opposing him; for school trustee, E. H. Miller, 453 majority; for justices of the peace, Herman Siemsen, A. A. Fulton and Ed. P. Falter; for constables, Ed. S. Heuser, H. L. Ambler and Sam F. Unger.

George Lorenz will give an Easter dance on Easter Monday, April 18th.

EASTER SERVICES

The choir and Luther League will sing and George Stockman will sing a solo. The communion will also be served.

On Easter morning services will also be held at the usual hour.

At the German M. E. church special services will be held on Easter Sunday.

A school election will be held Saturday afternoon for electing one school director.

The Tinley Park Athletic Club received their new baseball suits. The suits are white and grey striped. A very live baseball season is being planned on.

Carl Miller of Midlothian has rented a flat in the Stockman building. He moved his furniture Monday.

Dr. and Mrs. VanVoermer have returned after a three weeks' trip to Springfield. They were called there by the illness and death of a brother of the doctor's.

This coming Sunday, the annual confirmation services will be held at the Zion Lutheran church, when a class will be confirmed by Rev. A. Buddenhagen. There will be special services.

On Thursday evening preparatory services will be held. On Good Friday services will be held in the morning and in the afternoon at 3 o'clock. On Easter Sunday morning special services will be held.

Justus Laun Dies

Justus Laun, well known in Bremen township, passed away at his home in West Pullman on March 31st at 10:00 p. m., following a paralytic stroke which left him helpless for three weeks. He had been in fairly good health until two months ago when he had a slight stroke which was soon followed by another. The second one left him helpless. He suffered little pain and never complained and was ready for the fatal summons. All that kind hands could do was done.

Funeral services were held April 4th from the late home at 12017 Wal-lace Street, W. Pullman, Ill. Burial in Mt. Hope cemetery.

The man beautiful floral offerings which were brought and sent showed the high esteem in which the departed was held.

Justus Laun was born in Kurhessen, Germany, January 1, 1841. At the age of six years he came with his parents to America after a long, tiresome journey. He could tell many interesting stories of the early days in Cook County and often the young folks were entertained by his experiences when this part of the country was a wild open prairie.

Mokena Couple Married 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. John Liess of Mokena celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Wednesday evening, April 5th. Mr. Liess is 76 years old and has been a resident of Mokena since 1867. On April 5th, 1872 he was united in marriage to Mary Marti, who is now 71 years old and has been a life long resident of Mokena.

Eight children were born from this union, seven of whom are living and all attended the celebration. They are: John Liess, Mary Leonhardt of Joliet, Frank Liess of Gage, Montana, Charles Liess, Jennie Cooper, Rose Reab all of Mokena and Freida Voss of Tinley Park. Their families including ten grandchildren were all present. A purse of gold coins was presented to the couple by them.

A great surprise was the coming of their son Frank and grandson Marcus from Gage, Montana. One of the features of the occasion was a huge wedding cake which was artistically decorated with gold roses and leaves, upon which was a beautiful inscription "50th Wedding Anniversary" which was baked by their son Charles.

A bountiful dinner was served at 7 o'clock in the dining room, in which the gold decorations were carried out. The center piece consisted of a gift basket containing 50 Goldenwave Callopiis.

Rev. Wm. Kreis of St. John's Evangelical church was present and delivered a most impressive re-union address after which congratulations were extended.

Mr. Liess has held the offices of tax collector, town clerk, village clerk and at present holds the office of village treasurer of Mokena and is also engaged in the insurance business.

Card of Thanks

I wish to express my sincere and heartfelt thanks for the kindness and sympathy shown to me in the loss of my loving husband.

MARY B. MORIARTY.

LOST--Between Ed Mohr's residence and Mrs. H. Mohr's residence, a purse, containing a ten dollar bill, some change and a Chicago railroad ticket. Finder please return to L. Mohr, and receive reward.

CHICKENS MUST BE PENNED UP

The village board has received complaints that some of the residents of the village are allowing their chickens to roam at large and officer John Erisch has been instructed to notify such parties that the village ordinance prohibits any fowls from running at large at any time of the year. There is a penalty attached for violation of this ordinance.

P. O. EXAMINATION SATURDAY

Saturday, the examination for the postmastership of Mokena will be held at Joliet. It is understood that only two applicants, a man and a woman, have signified their intention of taking the examination.

In 1864 he was united in marriage with Miss Sophia Warnow. To this union eight children were born. In 1895 he retired from farming. In 1901 he moved to West Pullman where he resided until his death. In 1909 his wife died, which was a hard blow for him. Six years later he was married to Mrs. Emma Nothnagel, who survives him.

Mr. Laun was a good Christian, a loving husband and a kind father, and leaves many a warm friend who will miss his pleasant smile and cheerful face. He leaves to mourn, his widow and five children, John, Albert, Frank, Mrs. Henry Brandau and Mrs. J. L. Pitta.

Congressman Copley Answers Roll Call

In answer to the campaign story that I have missed a great many roll calls, permit me to call your attention to the fact that I have not missed any more important roll calls than any other member of Congress on the average during the 12 years which I have been a member.

For more than three years I have been a member of the ways and means committee, the most important committee in either branch of Congress. The committee is in almost continuous session. Its rooms are more than a quarter of a mile away from the hall in which the members of Congress sit. We have members on the committee whose names begin with "A" and whose names begin with "Y." Consequently it takes the full roll call before all members of the committee could answer. Every roll call requires more than 40 minutes; the walk of a half mile over and back another 20 minutes.

It requires an hour of our time for each roll call even when it is merely a demand for a quorum owing to a filibuster.

For more than 50 years it has been recognized in Congress the impossibility of a few great committees accomplishing their work if they are compelled to go over to answer roll calls designed solely to consume time.

Any member of Congress who lives up to a pledge that he will answer every roll call thereby pledges himself not to accomplish very much either for his constituents or for the people of this country.

I. C. COPLEY.

Mrs. Louis Zumstein of Mokena Dies of Cerebral Hemorrhage

Mrs. Louis Zumstein of Mokena died suddenly Sunday. She was stricken early Sunday morning and at 4:30 o'clock of the same day she passed away. Cerebral hemorrhage was the cause of death. The suddenness of her demise came as a great blow to the family and her many friends. She had been about her home Saturday, but did not complain of being ill.

The deceased was a kindly mother and wife, and a noble Christian. She is greatly missed.

The deceased was born July 29, 1854. In 1877 she was united in marriage with Louis Zumstein. To this union seven children were born, of whom three have died.

She is survived by her husband, three daughters, Freida and Bertha of Mokena, Mrs. Georgia Nelson of New Lenox, and one son, Arthur G. Mokena, three brothers, Nicholas and John Haue of Joliet and August of Mokena, two sisters, Mrs. Ebert of Chicago and Mrs. Jacob Feil of Frankfort, besides a host of other relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon from the home to St. John's Evangelical church, Rev. Wm. Kreis officiating. The services at the home were private. The Hinderles of Joliet sang at both services. At the church they sang "Crossing the Bar" and "The Valley of Peace." The Ladies' Aid Society of this church, of which the deceased was a member, also sang. The floral offerings were many and very beautiful. Burial took place in the St. John cemetery.

EASTER SERVICES

The Mokena M. E. church will send a case of fresh eggs to the Lake Bluff Orphanage as its Easter offering. Next Sunday morning the pupils of the Sunday school will bring the eggs to the church. Anyone wishing to make an egg contribution can do so by sending them to the Sunday school.

On Easter Sunday morning the Sunday school of this church will render a special Easter program at 10:30 o'clock. In the evening there will be a special church program. The choir will furnish special music and singing. The big feature on the program will be a sermon by District Supt. T. K. Gale of Joliet, to which the congregation is anxiously looking forward to. Everyone is invited to attend these services.

At the St. John Evangelical church the annual confirmation services will be held this coming Sunday. Special services in the evening. On Good Friday special services will be held at this church. On Easter Sunday a quite elaborate program will be carried out in the evening. The Communion will also be observed at the Easter morning service.

The Wm. Clark family who are occupying the Scheiblich residence on Front Street, are going to move to New Lenox the first of May.

Frankfort Has A Real Hot Election

Frankfort township had a real "hot election" Tuesday when two tickets and a hard road proposition were in the field. The fight centered on the supervisor and highway commissioner. Wm. Lankenau, president of the Frankfort State Bank, the Republican nominee went into office with an overwhelming majority over his opponent, Geo. W. Maue, on the People's ticket. Christ H. Warning, present highway commissioner, also went back to his office with a big majority over Fred Marti, his Republican opponent. The election returns were as follows:

FRANKFORT

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schlander of Peotone, Ill., are spending a couple of weeks with Mrs. Mary Karch.

Mrs. Theo. Miner will spend the week end, April 9, in Chicago, where she will hear her former College Glee Club.

Miss Emma Wilson is recovering from an attack of influenza.

The play, "Nothing But the Truth," which the M. E. Epworth League is heading, is well under way and is expected to be given shortly after Easter.

The German services of the M. E. church will be held Sunday evening, April 9, under the care of Otto Frey.

WORTH NEWS

The annual village election to be held Tuesday, April 18 will be very quiet this year as there is only one petition filed at the clerk's office. Mr. L. Daniels, Mr. L. W. Craney, and Mr. Henry Stewart are new candidates for trustees. Mr. Fred J. Hildebrand is for treasurer and Mr. Joseph Kaufman for clerk, are both out for re-election to their respective offices. The election will take place in Mr. Christ Rust's building, formerly the barber shop.

Miss Grace Leipstropp, who had won three ribbons in the preliminary spelling contest, was a representative of the Worth school at the Cook County Spelling Contest held by the County Supt. in Chicago Saturday, April 1st, at the Court House. She did very well considering she was the only representative from this district. Everyone congratulates her on her pluck and wishes her better luck next time.

Miss Ruth Palmer has recovered considerably from her recent illness and attended services at church last Sunday, being the first time she was able to venture out of the house.

Mrs. Leipstropp and her daughter, Mrs. Hasenfang, who have been occupying the same ward at the Burnside hospital, are doing so well that they are expected home any day.

Mrs. Hasenfang had undergone an operation for gall-stones and was in a very serious condition and needed the aid of two physicians and two nurses to work over her constantly.

The constant rain, recently, has temporarily submerged some of the lowlands of the village and the boys find great sport in utilizing all spare row boats obtainable.

Some of the residents find it necessary to bail out their basements in order to get at their coal bins.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Foyle have returned from their tour of the west.

Mrs. Elliott, relative of Mr. Clifford Tobey, has sold her property back of the M. E. church, between Depot St. and Harlem Ave, facing 111th St. It is rumored that this will soon be subdivided and resold in lots.

Chas. Doctor Re-elected Sup. of Orland Twp.

Town of Orland had a hot election Tuesday. The result was as follows: for supervisor Charles Doctor 235; David Agate 136; for town clerk B. F. Sippel 252 no opposition; assessor Martin Smith 247; J. C. Keuch 133; tax collector C. A. Steinhagen 207; Gilbert A. Sayers 174; highway commissioner Wm. T. Beagley 303 no opposition; school trustee Chas. T. Burkhardt 207; constable Fred Arnold 8. Total votes cast 444.

The battle is on again for village officials to be elected at the village election to be held Tuesday, April 18th. Another petition was filed in the clerk's office Saturday, April 1st, but don't think this ticket was gotten up as an April fool joke, though some may consider it as such. It was gotten up by a number of very prominent citizens for a good purpose.

Following are the names of the candidates and their respective offices for which they are running: W. R. Schussler, Treasurer; Herman Kruse, Clerk; James Cannon, Trustee; George M. Yunker, Trustee; Gerhard Koehler, Trustee.

The other petition filed bore the names of the candidates as follows: Thomas Wheeler, Treasurer; Wm. Witt, Clerk; Albert Loeb, Trustee; C. A. Kay, Trustee; Edgar Cooper, Trustee.

All voters in the village should go to the polls and cast their vote for the parties they consider most capable of handling village affairs, and also keep in mind what has been done and what has not been done by the village board in past years.

A school election will be held Saturday, April 8th at the village school house for the purpose of electing one school director.

The following statement is at hand from the Superintendent of the Department of Public Instruction at Springfield, Ill.: "A school board may issue warrants for educational and building purposes, only to the extent of seventy-five per cent of the amount levied for such purposes. The school board may issue warrants only against the taxes levied for the year 1921. Warrants cannot be legally issued against the taxes to be levied for the year 1922. Warrants are valid to the extent of seventy-five per cent of the taxes levied for building purposes and should be paid in the order they were issued by the school board. The Supreme Court of the State has repeatedly held that taxes levied for educational purposes cannot be legally used for building purposes. See People vs. Hassler 262-133."

R. M. Cooper has just purchased the store building in which he has been doing business for the past several months from John Burkhardt of Chicago, formerly of Orland. Mr. Cooper will do a lot of remodeling on the building, as his business has increased so much in the last few months that he hasn't half enough room. He also intends to put in an electric light system and have a real up-to-date store.

Mrs. Chris. Steinhagen, Sr., is on the sick list. She was taken to the Burnside hospital Wednesday by Dr. W. R. Schussler.

Ed Arnold and family visited Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Arnold, Sr.

We have a Sheik in our town

And he is wondrous wise;

He will never introduce his girl

To any other guys.

Miss Lillian Yunker, who was recently operated on at the Burnside hospital for appendicitis, was brought home again Wednesday.

ORLAND

The program given by the M. E. Epworth League Sunday night was a great success. Miss Hansert had charge of it. Eight new members were taken in. They were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Cooper, Esther Gee and Mary Steffen. The next program will be May 1st. Mrs. M. H. Neumeyer will have charge of this program.

Mrs. John Gee and daughter Esther spent a few days last week at the home of Mrs. Dunlap.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cooper entertained Rev. and Mrs. Neumeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Cooper and daughter Pearl, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cooper and son Stanley, and Miss Hansen at dinner Sunday.

Mrs. Brandau of Frankfort is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Cooper.

Word comes from Price, Utah, that a fine nine-pound boy came to live with Rev. and Mrs. Chas. Brown on Sunday, March 26th.

Some of the young folks from here attended the April fool dance given at Tinley Park Saturday night.

Don't get out of patience, girls! As soon as the mud dries up, Bub will have his ear out again.

The Orland Baseball team have got together again and will be ready for the first game May 7th. So far no game has been booked for April 30th. A try-out game will be played on that date, giving all young men a trial. This is your chance, you young men, to show what you are made of. All those try out for the big team: see Edward Gonderman, manager.

Peter Wilkins Will Admitted to Probate

Under the terms of the will of the late Peter Wilkins of Frankfort, who died at his home February 17th, his entire estate, both real and personal property, was left to his eight daughters to be divided equally alike. They are: Mrs. Augusta Seiberg and Mrs. Louisa Baker, of Manhattan township; Mrs. Minnie Harnack, Mrs. Annie Lutting and Mrs. Ida Barlow, of Frankfort; Mrs. Julia Hansen, Mrs. Emma Hansen and Mrs. Charlotte Christiansen of Green Garden. The will was admitted to probate Monday.

The town board met one day last week.

Wm. Rahm is busy with the aid of his friends and neighbors, building glazed tile and sand for his new house which he will erect on the farm this summer. His house was destroyed by fire a few weeks ago.

The members of the St. Peter's church have made several improvements at the parsonage. The new pastor, the Rev. Mr. Glasberg, is expected here soon.

Clarence Colegrove purchased a second-hand Ford roadster car.

Fred Schultz of Minnesota is visiting friends and relatives in this vicinity this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Haska attended the thirty-year wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Christ Warning Thursday night.

Raymond Hobbs, Raymond and Mildred Haska and Walter Minger attended a birthday party at the Oran home near New Lenox.

Much anxiety was felt among the Joliet milk shippers when a report came out that the street car line was going to stop April 1st. It was a false report, but then they don't know how long they will continue.

Hard Road Proposition Carries in New Lenox

The hard road proposition at Tuesday's election carried, 120 votes were cast in favor and 33 against the proposition. The regular town ticket was elected.

The Ladies' Aid of the M. E. church are putting the finishing touches on their play, "The Adventures of Grandpa," to be given in Grange Hall on Friday evening, April 21st.

The Royal Neighbor bazaar given in Grange Hall last Wednesday was well attended. $95.00 was cleared.

Mrs. A. J. Kennedy, who is ill, is somewhat improved.

The Epworth League of the M. E. church will serve lunch each Sunday evening from now on instead of just one Sunday a month.

Next Sunday morning at the regular services of the M. E. church the Home Department of the Woman's Missionary Society will have their annual Thank Offering. A speaker from the Good Will Industries of Chicago will be the speaker.

New Value of Fortifications.

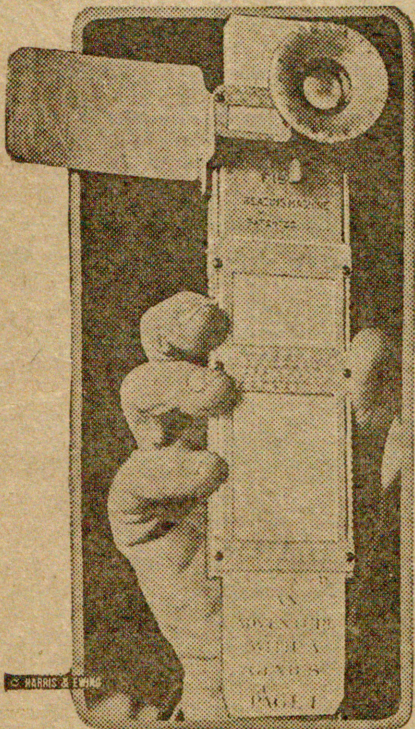

John Ziska, a famous leader of the Bohemian party in Bohemia, gained the title of "father of the modern art of fortification." In 1420 he took up a strong position near Prague on an eminence since known as Ziskaberg, and held it with a few thousand men against an army of 30,000.

House Where Pope Pius XI Was Born

In this little old house in the Italian town of Desio, Achille Ratti was born. A few weeks ago he ascended the papal throne as Pope Pius XI, successor of the late Pope Benedict.

NOVEL READING MACHINE

The Fiske reading machine has been invented by Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske of Washington. The instrument consists of a tiny lens and a small roller for operating this eyepiece up and down a vertical column of reading matter. Ordinary typewritten copy, when photographically reduced to one hundredth of the space originally occupied, can be read by the use of this instrument with the same facility as the impression of conventional printing type. The device is only six and a quarter inches long and weighs five and a half ounces.

WOMAN PSYCHOLOGIST

Miss Emma Reiman, supervisor of the Arkansas parental school at Little Rock, is a psychological doctor for the mental and moral ills and defects of the entire Little Rock student body. She takes charge of the delinquent and incorrigible children of the city, irons out their mental kinks and sends them back among the normal children "satisfactorily adjusted," as she calls it.

Description Fits Him.

Charles Gibson tells us of a down-and-out who came into the railroad office with a tale of woe, not long ago, and tried to work him for transportation out of town.

"I came to Cleveland with good prospects three months ago," explained the unfortunate one. "I thought I could land a good position with a certain company on account of the work I'd done in my own town in their line. But they didn't know anything about me, and they turned me down. I took my letters of introduction to another firm; same result. I was some pumpkins at home, but they couldn't see me here. I didn't have no pull. Then I tried the railroads. I used to work in the deepo back there. But in Cleveland, they didn't seem to think that amounted to anything. I wanta go back. Now, as I said, I uster be a railroader. Could I git a pass?"

"My dear man," explained Mr. Gibson kindly, "the law allows us to give passes to nobody. There's no exception—nobody!"

"That's me!" cried the derelict. "Gitme the pass!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

They Will Serenade the Martians

News Nuggets
From Illinois

A second discovery of gold near Pearl City within a year has been reported. Well-drillers working on a farm two miles northwest of Pearl City struck gold-bearing sand at a depth of 70 feet, it is claimed, many particles of free gold being taken out.

Miners at the Little Vermilion mine of the United States Fuel company, near Danville, are said to have broken a world's record a few days ago when 2,026 cars of coal, a total of 4,058 tons, were hoisted during a shift of eight hours. The mine cars contain 2.3 tons and an average of one car was hoisted from the working level to the surface every 14.2 seconds.

The date of the farm bureau decennial celebration to be held at DeKalb in honor of the tenth anniversary of the first two county farm bureaus in Illinois has been changed from June 28, as was originally announced, to June 30. The change was made in order that 12 State Farm Bureau federation presidents, composing the executive committee of the American Farm Bureau federation, might attend.

State and national legislation affecting pharmacists will be among important questions discussed at the forty-second annual convention of the Illinois Pharmaceutical association at Springfield June 27, 28 and 29, it was announced Saturday. The association, which has a membership of 1,500, was organized in 1880, to obtain the passage of a pharmacy law, and, according to the secretary, has been concerned largely in questions of legislation "for the protection of the public against ignorant and incompetent dispensers of drugs."

Co-operative marketing of poultry and eggs by Illinois producers now ranks as an accomplishment rather than an experiment, according to a statement sent out to the 95 county farm bureaus of Illinois by the Illinois Agricultural association. There are now six co-operative egg and poultry marketing associations of producers in the state organized by the state organization and county farm bureaus, the statement says. These associations are located at Flora, Shelbyville, Tower Hill, Oconee, Westervelt and Stewardson, all central Illinois towns.

Calling attention to a 50 per cent decrease in the number of cases of communicable diseases reported in Illinois since 1920, Governor Small issued a proclamation designating the week of May 7 as "Health Promotion Week," and calling upon public officials and schools and civic bodies to observe the week by systematic instruction on the principles of public health. "The people of Illinois have cause for self-congratulation in the matter of health conditions during the year 1921," the proclamation stated, in calling attention to the fact that the general death rate in the state last year was the lowest ever recorded.

Marking of the Illinois highways will be resumed by the Chicago Motor club following word received from the state highway department that, temporarily at least, the club numerals would be adopted as official for the northern district of the state. Illinois recently adopted the plan of marking highways which is in vogue in Indiana and Wisconsin. In these states the main trunk lines are denominated by numbers so that, to reach any desired town or city, it is necessary only to follow the state markings without recourse to guide books or maps. It is the plan to hook up the Illinois trunk lines with those of the adjacent states.

Members of the special commission appointed by Governor Small to investigate an alleged traffic in physicians' and pharmacists' licenses and other state permits, after organizing in Chicago notified the governor that they were ready to begin the inquiry and asked for credentials to look into all necessary department records. The commission organized with Dr. William L. Noble of the trustees of the University of Illinois as chairman and Dr. E. P. Sloan of Bloomington as secretary. Doctor Sloan, president-elect of the Illinois Medical society, was named by the governor following the declaration of Dr. Charles Humiston, retiring president of the society. The third member is Dr. W. A. Evans, former health commissioner of Chicago. Alleged "leaks" through which applicants for state licenses are said to have obtained copies of examination questions in advance of examinations form the center of the inquiry.

William Root, for 23 years a member of the Freeport police force and since 1911 chief of police, has tendered his resignation, effective May 1. He will retire on half pay.

Announcement was made that the annual interscholastic track and field meet will be held on Illinois field at Urbana May 19 and 20. The state tennis and golf tournaments also will be held there. Invitations will be sent to 750 high schools of Illinois. There will be two classes, A for schools of 400 pupils or more, and B for those with less than 400.

John M. ("Dad") Hunter, known as the "father of the United Mine Workers' organization in Illinois" and one of its first presidents, is dead at Streator. He was born in Scotland in 1841, and served in the Civil war after coming to the United States. He was the father of fifteen children, of whom eight and the widow survive.

The Illinois primaries April 11 will settle legislative contests in less than half of the 51 senatorial districts of the state. In 25 districts the senatorial committees of the two major parties determine the house membership so far as they are concerned, but in the remaining 26 districts party managers will continue the struggle through the November election.

Protest against an order that the proposed routing of the road between Belleville and Freeburg be changed was received by Governor Small from citizens of both cities. The telegram declared the new route will cost $200,000 more. The change of routes was ordered by the highway division because of two grade crossings between Belleville and Freeburg which were considered dangerous.

Six million young lake trout and 200,000 silver scaled Kennerly salmon were dumped into Lake Michigan off Waukegan, the first move in a campaign to restock the various waters in Illinois with game fish. The fish were hatched at the state hatchery at Spring Grove, where 20,000,000 wall-eyed pike, 5,000,000 pickerel, 800,000 bass and 100,000 rainbow trout are being bred for the same purpose.

A jury verdict disposed of the second of a trio of Peoria bandits, who last August 15 drove a truck to the rear of the McIntyre general store at Virginia and cleared the place of its $6,000 stock. Ben D. Darling was found guilty by a jury after it had been out twelve hours. A few weeks ago Roy Erickson, the first of the three, was shot to death when Sheriff Farrar caught him in an attempt to escape.

Chicago, Decatur, East St. Louis, Peoria and Springfield were leaders among Illinois cities in the value of building construction for which permits were issued in February, according to the March employment bulletin of the Illinois department of labor. The Chicago permits, 634 in number and authorizing more than $13,000,000 worth of construction, made up the bulk of the returns from twelve cities. Springfield was second on the list with $381,230, and Decatur third with $253,575, while the total for both East St. Louis and Peoria was about $30,000.

Under a decision made by the attorney general, the state department of public health announces it has the power to declare that a state of limited quarantine exists in any municipality where an epidemic of smallpox has appeared or threatens to develop. Under the terms of such limited quarantine, the department explains, it would be legal to require all persons about to travel on common carriers to produce evidence of protection against smallpox, either by reason of vaccination or of having had the disease. Local health authorities can be required to enforce such regulations under the opinion.

Heavy storing of grain on farms in this state is reported to A. J. Surratt, United States agricultural statistician by correspondents of the state federal crop reporting service in Illinois. Oats and barley are being stored heavily. The corn reserves in Illinois farms are estimated at 128,506,000 bushels, which has been exceeded but three times during the past ten years. This is estimated to be 43 per cent of the 1921 corn crop of 305,966,000 bushels. Farm stocks of wheat, estimated at 6,333,000 bushels, have been exceeded five times and are but 14 per cent of the 1921 crop of 45,234,000 bushels. The oats reserve of 46,262,000 bushels has been exceeded six times in the past ten years. Of a total estimated 1921 crop of 45,234,000 bushels the reserve is figured at 1 per cent. The reserve of barley on farms is placed at 1,502,000 bushels, exceeded twice during the past ten year period. These reports indicate 33 per cent of the 1921 barley crop of 4,550,000 bushels.

The Department of Commerce, through the bureau of census, announces that the costs of government for the state of Illinois for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, amounted to $46,406,170, which was a per capita of $7.06. In 1918 the per capita cost was $4.08, and in 1915, $3.16. The totals for these years being $25,453,117 and $18,936,023, respectively. The per capita costs for 1921 consisted of expenses of general departments, $4.42; expenses of public service enterprises, $0.01; payments for interest, $0.02; and for outlays, $2.62. The total revenue receipts in 1921 were $45,057,530, or $6.86 per capita. For the fiscal year the per capita excess of governmental costs over revenue receipts was, therefore, $0.20. The per capita net indebtedness (funded and floating debt less sinking fund assets) of Illinois is decreasing, being $0.28 per capita for 1921, $0.33 for 1918 and $0.35 for 1915.

The grand council of the Royal Arcanum of Illinois will hold its annual session at Rockford April 25-27. About 200 delegates are expected.

Letters to correct erroneous beliefs relative to forms of ballots for the April 11 primaries were sent to all county clerks of Illinois by Secretary of State Emmerson. Twenty county clerks held the wrong opinion that special ballots were required for nominations to fill the vacancy for congressmen-at-large, the secretary said. In some counties forms for special ballots had been prepared.

Hornell, N. Y. - "I was in bad health but there didn't seem to be any one thing that was the matter with me."

I was tired out all over and it was an effort for me to move. I was irritable and could not sleep nights and had trouble with my bowels and at my periods. It seemed that nearly every one around me knew of your medicine and wanted me to try it.

So at last I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and improved every day. I do all my own work now except the washing and do it with ease. I can accomplish as much in a day now as it would have taken me a week to do last winter and I try to get every one I know to take your medicine to build them up. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you like."—Mrs. CHAS. BAKER, 21 Spencer Ave., Hornell, N.Y.

In almost every neighborhood there are women who know of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They know because they have taken it and have been helped. Why don't you give it a trial?

How Was He to Know?

I had an armful of statements which I had just brought down from the fifth floor. As I went into the mail office I saw the cashier behind a desk in the center of the office. The desk being quite large, I had to reach over so as not to spill the statements, and in doing so my foot, unawares to me, became entangled in an electric lamp cord. As I started to walk away I was suddenly jerked from my feet and I found myself on the floor beside the lamp. In conclusion I will say that it didn't take me long to vacate the place.—Chicago Tribune.

Miserable With Backache?

Why put up with that nagging backache? You can't be happy when every day brings morning lameness, sharp, shooting pains and that all-worn-out feeling. The best way to get well is to find the cause of your trouble and correct it. Likely, a cold or a chill has slowed up your kidneys and that is why you have backaches, stabbing pains, headaches and dizziness. Just take things easier and help your weakened kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

An Illinois Case

Mrs. Louis Niebruggs, 209 Cherry St., Elmhurst, Ill., says: "I had an attack of kidney trouble, became run down and felt dull and tired. My back ached and I had no energy to do my work. My kidneys did not act regularly, but Doan's Kidney Pills soon rid me of these attacks and restored my energy so I was cured."

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

DARWINIAN THEORY

WE ARE reading a great deal these days about the Darwinian theory. The newspapers tell us that Kentucky, famed for its blue grass, its blooded horses, beautiful women and chivalrous men, is deep in the study of its involved perplexities.

All the way from school houses to the Kentucky senate, the question of man's relationship with monkey is being discussed with fervor.

The world is pricking up its ears, arching its eyebrows and looking askance upon the creatures, who, according to the Scriptures, were created in God's image.

Just how will all this controversy benefit you and me?

Will it make us better men and women, elevate our minds to a higher sphere and give us greater power for usefulness?

Power gravitates to those who can use it, not to the wavering nor the weak. It belongs to those who have faith, who believe as a child and accept biblical statements without question.

Who among the sons of men knows himself? Who by gazing in his or her looking-glass can see himself or himself? The body which encases self is all that can be seen, yet who doubts that self, the image of God exists?

Who questions the truthfulness of the Bible, the origin of man, or the omnipotence of Him who created the heaven and the earth?

Is it for the atom of dust to deny: "So God created man in His own image, in the image of God created He him; male and female created He them."

Let us not go out of our way to seek the dark places, whose mysteries must forever baffle human understanding.

There is more joy in the sunshine, more happiness in useful effort, more pleasure in the acceptance of existence as it is, more delight in self-abnegation and in doing good to others, than in the painstaking avoidance of childish faith.

It is not for us to become crazed about frisky monkeys, nor for us to try to make monkeys of ourselves.

But it is for us to work, to think good thoughts, to put unbelief and doubt far behind us and make ourselves more worthy of the infinite love, the only anchor which will hold secure in this life and in the life to come.

THE ROMANCE OF WORDS

"PIN-MONEY"

DURING the Sixteenth and Seventeenth centuries pins were so extremely expensive that only the wealthy could afford them. By a curious law, the manufacturers of pins were permitted to sell them on only two days each year—January 1 and 2—and when those days came around the women whose husbands could afford the expenditure secured "pin-money" from them for their purchases.

While savages have, for ages, used thorns and splinters for the purpose of joining bits of hide or making garments of leaves, pins—as we know them today—did not come into use until the early part of the Fourteenth century. They were introduced into England in 1540 but it was not until 1824 that an American named Wright invented a machine for manufacturing pins very rapidly, and now more than 1,500 tons of iron and brass are annually converted into pins in the United States alone, a condition which renders entirely obsolete the original meaning of the phrase "pin money" which, however, still persists as a synonym for "an allowance given by a husband to a wife to cover her personal expenses."

GRACEFUL CREPE FROCKS; FASCINATION OF BLOUSES

WHEN springtime is in the air, when birds carol their happy notes and white flowers are bursting into bloom, then it is that fancy lightly turns to frocks. A survey of the new fashions makes glad the heart, for in them we find our hopes realized in that the continuance of the vogue for graceful crepes is assured. The lines are as simple as ever, the loose, soft straight effects that is made of the thin georgette crepe. "One good turn deserves another," and this being a suit season, the importance of the separate blouse automatically follows. One of the fascinations of the modern blouse is the colorful mood it expresses. Stylists decree that the blouse must stand out as the vivid color note of the costume.

Quite a new development is the predominating, and that means we can all continue to look youthful.

There is much of the French spirit reflected in the collection of gowns at various opening displays. That is, the semi-dress effects are noted, attained not so much in elaboration as in marvelous colors.

Panels are very much in evidence and many of these are beaded. Another feature is the use of coarse hand-crochet lace dyed to match the dress. This use of lace constitutes one of the delights of the spring modes.

Both sleeves and girdles are vastly important details. The gown itself is secondary to its sleeves in many instances.

Quite a few georgette sleeves are caught into a jeweled or beaded shirred hip line drawn over rubber, so that the separate waist is worn over the skirt.

Elaborate costume blouses have again come into fashion. These may be foundationally be of contrasting color to the suit, but in the fancy stitchery and ornamentation they harmonize to the costume complete.

Handwork has considerable to do with the success of the dressy blouse. A very charming idea is to applique flowers and leaves cut from the cloth of the suit, using crepe de chine for the foundational fabric.

Beading continues to be the leading thought for blouse treatment. The newest idea is to use large pearl beads, running them throughout the pattern in a single row, flanked on wrist band. The idea of designing the girdle, to harmonize with the gown is followed by eminent couturiers, who seek individuality.

As to hemlines, the most of them are still gracefully uneven. Hand-made roses of the fabric matching the frock are a favorite decoration. The idea of lattice fashioned from self-material is receiving considerable attention.

Crystal bead chrysanthemums in this soft, gray crepe frock pictured are repeated on the huge crepe cuffs, thus accenting the transparency of the sleeve itself. The panel effects are unique and there is an underskirt of each side with heavy silk embroidery. Mimosa yellow is a favorite shade for the separate georgette, crepe satin or cotton crepe blouse.

The blouse here shown is of toast-color crepe satin. The broad girde bias fold, the sleeve finishings and the neck binding are bright rust color. Satin-pearl beads combined with yarn embroidery is the scheme of hand-decoration.

MOTHER! OPEN

CHILD'S BOWELS WITH CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP

Your little one will love the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" even if constipated, bilious, irritable, feverish, or full of cold. A teaspoonful never fails to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the sour bile, and undigested food out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.—Advertisement.

Otto Kahn, the New York financier, objects to the modern girl's bathing attire—a mailliot or one-piece suit, no skirt, no stockings.

WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND SWAMP-ROOT

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

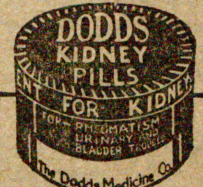

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

WHAT SHALL WE EAT

AS EGGS are more plentiful, the following good dish which is not new, but worth remembering, should be served often:

Lucanian Eggs.

Break macaroni in one-inch pieces and cook in boiling salted water until tender; drain and pour over a cupful of cold water. There should be a cupful of cooked macaroni. Grease a baking dish and put into it a layer of macaroni; cover with a layer of rich white sauce, prepared by cooking together two tablespoonfuls of butter with two of flour, and when well blended add one cupful of milk, seasoned with anchovy and onion juice. Add five hard-cooked eggs sliced, season highly with salt and cayenne, cover with buttered cracker crumbs and bake until the crumbs are brown.

Potato With Sliced Mutton.

Make a mound of mashed potatoes on a platter; surround with slices of roast mutton that have been simmered in the gravy with onion juice, butter, jelly and minced parsley. Strain the gravy over the meat after laying it around the potato.

Stuffed Baked Potatoes.

Wash and bake three good-sized long potatoes; bake until done, then cut potatoes into halves lengthwise, scoop out the potato and put through a sieve.

Add to a saucepan a tablespoonful of butter and the potatoes. Mix a cupful of chopped cooked meat, one tablespoonful each of chopped onion and green pepper. Season well with salt, butter and pepper, adding a little gravy if at hand. Fill the shells with the minced meat and pipe the seasoned potato around the edges.

Cauliflower in Batter.

Cook cauliflower until nearly done; drain, divide into small bunches; dip into a fritter batter and fry in deep fat. To make the batter use one beaten egg and one cupful of flour, one-half cupful of milk, a pinch of salt, and one tablespoonful of olive oil. Beat well and let stand in a cool place for an hour. Serve garnished with parsley.

Stuffed Raisins.

Select a large bunch of raisins, wipe and remove the seeds by making an incision in each. Insert a small ball of fondant or a small salted nut. Almonds are best. Use as a garnish for the top of a box of home-made candy.

11th Congressional District

Counties of DuPage, Kane, McHenry and Will

Congressman
I. C. Copley

Now serving this district in Congress. Fifth Ranking Member of the Ways and Means Committee. A candidate for renomination at the Primaries of April 11, 1922.

The best platform that any public official can stand upon as a candidate for return to office is his public record while holding that office.

The best campaign that he can make is one of service to his constituents throughout the term for which they have elected him.

During the time that Congressman Copley has been in office he has supported, among others, the following measures:

- The Child Labor Bill.
- The Farm Loan Act.
- The Federal Reserve Act.
- The Federal Aid Road Bill.
- The Women's Bureau Bill.
- The Maternity Bill.
- The Budget System.
- The 16th or Income Tax Amendment.
- The 17th Amendment Providing Direct Election of Senators.
- New Exemptions for Heads of Families in Income Tax.
- The 18th or Prohibition Amendment.
- The 19th or Woman Suffrage Amendment.
- The Parcels Post Act.

As fifth ranking member of the Committee on Ways and Means, the most important of the House, Congressman Copley has had an integral part in the framing of the Soldiers' Adjusted Compensation Bill, the Revenue Bill of 1921, and the Fordney Tariff Bill. Along the lines of these bills his greatest work in Congress has been accomplished. It is along these lines that his greatest service would lie in the future.

Congressman Copley comes before you for renomination in times of reconstruction. The United States has never had a greater need for constructive effort and legislation than at the present time.

The record of your Congressman in the House of Representatives and in private life has proved that he is essentially a builder.

The new "Paul Jones" Middies now here— smarter than ever before

Tomorrow we feature our first complete new showing of "Paul Jones" Middy Blouses—that the school Miss proclaims "the best ever."

$1.95, $2.89 and $3.49.

Styles for street and class-room wear.

The school girl likes the neat trimmings, colored cuffs and collars and also the plain white.

Also the "Paul Jones" Middies for the gymnasium with tabs sewed into the inner side seams, which are snapped back when the Middy is worn full length. When the wearer wishes to have a cuffed Middy, she rolls it up twice and buttons the tabs across the back, giving a smart blouse waist length Middy.

When You Bank with Us--

Dig into the history of men in this community who are successful as storekeepers, farmers, or in any other business, and you'll find that money SAVING gave them a start.

You can't open a store, buy a farm, start an enterprise without money. People's bank credits are based largely on their bank books. How much did you bank at THE ORLAND STATE BANK last year? Don't say you're too poor to save. Nobody is so poor that that they can't put, say $2.00, in this Bank every week. In ten years that would roll into $1040.00, plus a nice fat sum for interest. In this Bank your money is absolutely safe. By depositing it with us you not only help yourself, but keeping the money at home, you help the community. Urge your children to save something every week. A small sum will open up an account for them here.

Republican Voters!

I hereby announce my candidacy for nomination for Representative in the General Assembly, subject to the primaries of April 11th, 1922.

I respectfully solicit the support of all Republican voters, both women and men.

I stand for the enforcement of law; economy in public expenses; an equitable system of taxation; a practical hard roads program; better agriculture and better business.

If I am elected, I shall not only support, but shall seek to introduce in the Legislature measures favorable to the above issues.

Telephone Service Must Go On

The blizzards of winter and the cyclones and thunderstorms of summer are the inveterate enemies of the telephone service.

Experience covering many years has enabled the Bell company to develop the best forms of protection and the best weapons of defense in this warfare. In spite of all efforts, however, the destroying elements sometimes have their way and the telephone lines go out of service.

In such emergencies the Bell organization is instantly on the job making repairs as quickly as possible and insuring the users the shortest possible period of interruption of service.

The Paramount Issue Is

The Volstead Law

in the Contest for Sheriff

The regular order of business in the sheriff's office in Will County is negligible—it is mediocre—it sort o' runs regular. But there is one great, outstanding important duty—the enforcement of the Volstead law. This is a new law designed to stop the traffic in strong drink. The law is ample to accomplish what it was designed for, but of no account and much worse than no account unless it is enforced.

Murdie Says:

he will enforce this law in letter and spirit, if the voters of Will County elect him sheriff. The people say they want it done, and the people hold the key which on April 11 will unlock the gate to the possibility.

The people are pronounced in their condemnation of the non-enforcement of this important law. They seem to be much in earnest about it and I take it they are. So am I. Here's the people's part in getting what they want and it's simple and to the point. Do it for me on April 11.

The American Road Patrol

[National Crop Improvement Service.]
Many plans are being discussed to solve the problem of employment for our returned soldiers. No plan has yet been devised which will take care
of any considerable number of them.
It is unfortunate that so many of our country boys have decided that they are going to stay in the cities, and there should be some concerted action to get them back to their home towns.

One of the best ideas is to include them in the road building program which has already begun. A large number of them can be utilized in building the roads and, if each county would recall its partially disabled veterans and give them the job of road maintenance, another large number could be used in this manner.

In the old country, every few miles,
there will be seen a road patrol. He is equipped with light machinery for dragging and surfacing, but his most important function is to put wet gravel
into every depression after every rain.
It may be argued that gravel roads are not permanent, but the best hard surfaced roads are those which are built on a good gravel road foundation, one which has been properly graded and drained. This graveling should be done on every road and when the time comes to build the concrete, one of the largest items will have been disposed of.

When the concrete highways are constructed, all of the feeder roads should be given this personal attention by a road patrol, so that every farmer, who has not the good fortune to be located upon one of the trunk lines, may have a good road to that trunk line every day in the year.

It has been conceded that the reinforced concrete highway makes the best road. The growing use of trucks makes it imperative that our highways be built for the future, and a still greater percentage of solidity must be built into them to take care of the trucks which will become more and more numerous on every well-paved stretch.

Current Business Conditions

By GEORGE E. ROBERTS

(From the Monthly Bulletin Issued by The National City Bank of New York for April)

THE general feeling in business circles is one of strengthening confidence that the corner has been turned and that 1922 will be a better year than 1921. The improvement in fundamental conditions and in general feeling since the first of the year has been very marked; indeed, from the middle of January to the first of March optimism was perhaps over-pronounced, and a moderate reaction in some lines has naturally resulted.

The stock market, which is prompt to reflect and even anticipate changes in fundamental conditions, has been creeping upward for the last six months in a slow but persistent movement which suggests faith that better days are coming.

Railroad traffic, as indicated by the reports of car-loadings since the first of the year, have been running ahead of last year, although January gross earnings were about 16 per cent. below those of the same month of 1921. On the other hand the net earnings of 199 roads were $57,421,605 in January against $28,331,956 in January, 1921, which reflects the reduction in operating expenses.

Trading in all lines is on a short order basis. Foreign buyers wish to avoid the risks of exchange fluctuations so far as possible, and in the domestic trade there is a prospect that in some lines, particularly clothing and textiles, prices may be lower. There is general agreement, however, that both at home and abroad stocks have been worked down to the minimum and that there must be constant buying to meet the demands for current consumption. This is one respect in which the situation is decidedly more favorable than it was in the latter part of 1920 and throughout most of 1921.

The steel industry has made a marked recovery, the United States Steel Corporation now operating at about 70 per cent. of capacity and the independent companies in the aggregate at probably 60 per cent.
When it is considered that production capacity has increased about 50 per cent. since before the war, it will be seen that this is far from a state of stagnation.

The implement industry, although still far from normal, is much better than at this time last year, and that is the case also with the automobile industry, and even more so with the building industry. The figures for the latter are quite remarkable, permits in 161 cities aggregating $132,909,000 in February last,
against $50,433,167 in February, 1921.

The Situation in Agriculture
The chief factor in the change of sentiment which has occurred since the first of the year has been the

OTHER FACTORS INFLUENCING CONDITIONS

Aside from the unsettled and extremely unsatisfactory state of the reparations question, European affairs have been progressing in a manner to give encouragement.

The Genoa Conference, although of vague import, should accomplish something by bringing the high representatives of all Europe together.

The disturbance in the textile industry of New England is unsettled and spreading, with a likelihood of involving the entire textile industry of that section before it is settled.

The public has taken the impending coal strike very quietly, refusing to believe that there will be any serious effects upon business.

The labor organizations may have more power than the employers, but both are subject to economic law. There is more to the industrial problem than a mere trial of strength between employers and wage-workers. Industrial peace and progress is dependent upon a general understanding of this fact.

The unfavorable factor which continues to retard industrial recovery is the unbalanced relationship between values in the different industries, resulting from the uneven fall of prices and wages.

Prospects Encouraging
On the whole there seems to be a good basis for believing that agriculture in all branches will have a better market for the next crop than for the last one. The farmer's costs are declining, and we believe that the necessary readjustments to bring industry into balance require that they shall continue to decline.
It is in the interest of all business
that the farmers, the most numerous class in the country, shall have a fair show in the field. With agricultural production increasing in Europe the farmer cannot expect the prices of his products to go back to the high levels due to the war, and if he has made mistakes of judgment by buying property at high prices he has lots of company
among people who are not farmers, but he has a right to expect that one way or another, his products shall have a purchasing power in relation to other commodities and services equal to that of before the war. We do not think that much can be done by means of legislation to secure this to him, but are positive in our opinion that economic law will bring it to him, and we counsel all other groups to cheerfully accord it to him as rightfully

MODERN DAY MIRACLES

The Story of a London School Boy Who Stumbled
Upon the Secret of Making Dyes
from Coal Tar

(Told in Eight Sketches)
By JOHN RAYMOND

No. II
POETS OF SCIENCE

William Henry Perkin was an odd sort of a youngster. When he was 13 years old and a student in the City of London School he heard of a series of lectures on chemistry during the noon recess. Young William Henry decided that the lectures would be of more value to him than his lurches, so he took in the lectures.

Apparently the lectures made a decided impression upon the boy. Two years later he entered the laboratory of a chemist named Hofman in the Royal College of London and by the time he was 17, had started upon his career as a researcher. Perkin decided that his mission in life was to isolate phenanthrene from coal tar and prepare artificial quinine. In order to speed the day when his task would be done he set up a private laboratory and worked overtime. While at work in this laboratory in the spring of 1856,
he found in his test tube, while oxidizing some aniline oil, a black sticky mass instead of clear crystals. He attempted to wash it out with alcohol when, to his surprise, he produced a wonderful purple solution—mauve, the first of the aniline dyes.

Ten years later Perkin achieved his greatest triumph when he produced alizarin, or Turkey red, formerly made only from the root of the madder.
Years later the British government knighted the man who first discovered the vast possibilities contained with coal tar but gave him little financial support or encouragement. It was left to German researchers to build up the industry and finally to obtain a strangle hold upon the trade.

—a hold so firm
that in 1914, the Kaiser was convinced that, with
the aid of his chemists, he was in a position to conquer
the world.

Creative chemists
dye trust to last fifty years with the
idea of controlling the chemical business of the world. During this period
they will maintain uniform price
wages and hours of labor, and es-
because their imagination has found
in coal tar the fragrance of the rose,

the explosive that wounds and the
medicine that heals,
the bitterness of hemlock and the
sweetness of honey.
In a recent address
in Edinburgh the
president of the Chemical Section
of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, urging the correlation of scholastic knowledge with the experiences
and contacts of daily life, said:
"The quivering glint of massed blue-
bells in broken sunshine, the joyous radiance of young beech leaves against the stately cedar, the perfume of the hawthorne in the twilight, the florid majesty of rhododendron, the fragrant simplicity of lilac, periodically gladden
the most careless heart and the least reverent spirit; but to the chemist they breathe an added message, the assurance that a new season of refreshment has dawned upon the world, and that those delicate syntheses, into the mystery of which it is his happy privilege to penetrate, are once again are working their inimitable miracles in the laboratory of the human organism."

Poetry, indeed! But chemists are practical poets. They produce the materials a nation must have if it hopes to live and compete with other nations. Few nations realized this truth, however, until the World War offered convincing proof by opening 100 percent explosive and closing 5 percent chemical. That opened their eyes, but unfortunately, Germany had a fifty year start and took the trouble to protect the advantage.

On January 1, 1916, seven leading dye companies of Germany formed
dye trust to last fifty years with the
idea of controlling the chemical business of the world. During this period
they will maintain uniform price
wages and hours of labor, and es-
because their imagination has found
in coal tar the fra-

Universal--the Ace in Batteries

Just as the storage battery is the "Heart" of the electrical system on the car, so are the plates the "Heart" of the storage battery. UNIVERSAL Plates are no experiment—but the result of years of scientific observation and technical skill. UNIVERSAL time tested Plates are extremely hard, which means longer life to the battery, and yet they possess exceptional porosity, which means greater capacity.

Cong. Copley Reviews Work in Congress

TO THE GENERAL PUBLIC—

I am addressing this letter to all of my fellow citizens and constituents.

In addition to all the legislation made to handle and meet conditions brought about by the World War there are several things that this country has done during the twelve years of my service in Congress:

One of the most important acts for the future of this country was the so-called "Maternity Bill." There is no place in the entire lifetime of humanity in which so much can be accomplished for the future welfare as to see that all the babes are properly ushered into this world and that they have proper care, nourishment and education until they have attained the maximum growth of body and mind. In my opinion the two bills that have most affected the future welfare and prosperity of this country in the entire twelve years of my service in Congress are the Child Labor Bill and this so-called "Maternity Bill."

Another piece of work next in importance is the disarmament arrangement, which has now happily been ratified by the Senate of this country. In substance this means that Japan, England, France, Italy and the United States all agree that there will be no wars for ten years over any of the islands of the Pacific ocean. This is the least important corner of the globe, but the result is the most important. These islands, in the main, are peopled by inferior races, and yet we have all agreed not to fight for ten years and the agreement continues indefinitely after that unless one or more nations give a year's notice in writing of a withdrawal from the agreement. In other words, before we can fight there will be one year in which to patch it up and I say to you, my good friends, this one principle is the sole essence of a practically lasting peace in this world. I believe within two years from now England, France, Italy and Germany will enter into a similar compact regarding the European and African matters and that Japan will join in a similar one regarding the Asiatic and thus the dawn of the reign of the Prince of Peace will hearten civilized mankind.

The effect of this on the material prosperity of the people of the United States will be tremendous and the same beneficial results will be enjoyed by all the rest of the civilized world and after all, no one nation can possibly prosper unless the rest of them do. No one state in this Union can prosper while the rest of us suffer adversity, no class of men in this country can enjoy the blessings of prosperity while all the rest of us are suffering. We either all go up together or we go down together.

In great measure we are the arbiters of our own collective fortunes. Are we going to follow the plain, simple economic laws or are we going to disregard them? An act of Congress would not have very much more weight running counter to the general economic laws of the world than it would if we should decree that the law of gravitation should be reversed; instead of a man falling down he would fall up.

May I take this occasion in conclusion to add something that is personal? This will make the seventh time I have been before you as a candidate for Congress. I would like to ask you to compare my attitude toward my opponent with his attitude toward me in each one of these campaigns.

Ask yourself, have I ever vilified my opponent? Have I ever told you anything but the truth and have I ever failed to indicate to you in advance that which I thought would be the condition of this country within the next few years and has not that generally come true? You must have some one represent you in Congress. No two men ever sit side by side for one term and vote alike on every question, consequently a man who has represented you for twelve years must necessarily have voted on many questions in a way which does not meet with your entire approval or your judgment. No one else could do any different. When two Members can not agree certainly no Representative can satisfy all of his constituents by all of his votes.

I have been here long enough to have reached a position ranking well up towards the top on the most important Committee of either branch of Congress—the Ways and Means Committee.

I do not believe a single man who knows me thinks I have ever voted from any other motive than that which my best judgment dictates would be for the best interests of all the people of this country and the people of my own district in particular.

In as much as I have made you a prediction in each one of the campaigns that I have gone through, let me offer this at the present time; 1922 will see the end of our readjustment; we will then begin to build in all lines of industry, if we handle ourselves intelligently and do not violate the simple and obvious economic laws of the world; we will have a generation and perhaps a century of solid prosperity, not such a feverish one as I have described in the early part of this letter but a substantial one in which we all work and produce, save a little of what we produce and at the same time will again enjoy the blessings of contentment and happiness.

Very respectfully,

I. C. COPLEY

Olive Oil in Babies' Diet.
Dr. E. E. Graham of Philadelphia recommends the addition of olive oil to the diet of babies in their first two years. It is digested well by most infants and supplies them with additional fat.

Tit for Tat.
When Lord Randolph Churchill visited the diamond fields of South Africa he is said to have exclaimed after looking at some diamonds: "And all for the vanity of women." A lady who heard the remark added: "And the depravity of men."

Moon Hollow.
Moon Hollow is the name given to the spot where the boundaries of three states meet—New York, Vermont and Massachusetts.

Salt and Dampness.
Salt is what is called "hygroscopic" that is, it eagerly absorbs moisture. In fact, both air and salt are absorbents of moisture and it is a contest between them as to which gets it. Results depend on atmospheric conditions. Ordinary atmosphere always contains a proportion of moisture, and warm air is apt to be more humid than cold, as it absorbs and holds water vapor more readily than cold air. Salt has such affinity for moisture that under such conditions it draws it from the air. When the air becomes dry, the moisture is given up by the salt, which in turn becomes dry as it returns the moisture to the air.

Engraving 6,000 Years Old.
An engraving approximately 6,000 years old was discovered recently in Wales. Upon the plaque are a number of triangular symbols dating from Neolithic times, probably by workmen of the Iberian race, many evidences of which survive.

Arrow Deadly as Bullet.
A mounted Indian or white man with bow and arrows sometimes could kill more buffaloes than a man could kill with a rifle, says the American Forestry Magazine. At close range the arrow was as deadly as the bullet, it made less noise, and arrows could be discharged three or four times as rapidly as bullets from a rifle-loading gun.

Peru.
Peru, which had flourished under the Incas, was conquered by the Spaniards in 1533. It declared its independence in 1821 and three years later Spain was finally defeated. In a war with Chile in 1879 Peru lost part of its territory. Its area is 722,461 square miles. Its largest city is Lima, the capital, with a population of some 145,000 inhabitants. Its chief exports are India rubber, coffee, sugar, cinchona, cotton dyes and herbs. Its mineral wealth consists of gold, silver, copper, coal and crude petroleum.

Yule Log Once Preserved.
In olden times the Yule log was always laid aside before it was burned out, so that the next Christmas day the new Yule log might be lighted from the charred remains of its predecessor.

Fundamental Business Principles.
From a purely coldblooded business point of view, honesty is the best policy. To treat the other man as you would have him treat you is an equally fundamental business principle. This does not mean that you should surrender your rights or neglect to avail yourself of your opportunities. It simply means that in the game of business, the same rules of sportsmanship should prevail as in a boxing bout, in a match of golf, or in a football game.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

Nuts in Immense Quantities.
On the north coast of Guatemala 30,000 tons of coconuts are said to be available for exportation annually, and with an expenditure of $10,000 for highway improvement this quantity could probably be increased to 100,000 tons per annum. On the Pacific or south coast the yield of coconuts, it is estimated, could easily be increased to 300,000 tons per annum. There is a supply of cheap labor in this southern region.

The Water Spider.
A spider that lives under water builds a nest of silk among weeds, ponds and ditches, and fills the nest with air. In that strange home it lives and lays its eggs. In water it makes another nest, built of silk and air, and sleeps until the next day.

Going a Little Too Far.
Two small boys were quarreling over the possession of a toy bank when a noted local financier, who was passing, stopped and said to the younger: "Shame on you, my boy. Don't you want him to save his money?" "I don't care," replied the youth. "But he wants to save mine along with it."

Quickly to for the Old Wall.
Instead of dynamite try quicklime to get rid of an old masonry wall. First drill in the wall a bottle-shaped hole having a small opening. Fill this with lime, add enough water to slake it, and close the hole with a snugly fitted wooden plug. The resultant pressure will easily take down the wall.

Few Regions Really Rainless.
No part of the earth's surface is absolutely rainless except the interiors of Antarctica and Greenland, where the moisture that falls is always in the form of snow.

Old Buggy His Court.
A judge of Livingston, N. J., is on record as holding court from the seat of an old buggy. The case was that of a tenant who had disregarded notice to vacate property, so the buggy was drawn up within a short distance of the house in question and the trial proceeded.

Experienced and Qualified

Computing and proving the thousands of tax items contained in the tax books of this county, is but one of the many phases of the work of the tax department of the County Clerk's office.

To give you an idea of the great amount of work required to complete this task, I wish to state that there were 415,069 tax items computed for the year 1921.

In addition to this duty, your County Clerk is required to make up the 31 different tax books in which the taxes are extended.

Your County Clerk must also compile the total valuation of each taxing district, and calculate the tax rates.

Preparing the 55 books of the various assessors, as to names and descriptions of all lands and lots in the county, is another duty of your County Clerk.

These are but a few of a number of complicated and technical requirements of the tax department of the County Clerk's office.

As Deputy County Clerk, I have been in touch with the tax department of the County Clerk's office for a number of years. Believing that I can serve the people well by reason of my experience, I present myself as a candidate in the primary election, April 11th, for the Republican nomination for County Clerk.

You will vote for courteous and careful service—experienced service—when you mark a cross in the square before my name.

FRANK W. WHEELER

FOR

Clerk of the Probate Court

He is a Candidate for the Nomination on the Republican Ticket

THE OFFICE

Is one of the most important to be filled by the electors.

All estates of deceased persons must be filed in this office. This involves title to your house and all other real estate and all personal property.

In addition, children under guardianship and persons under conservatorship come under this work.

This means the proper recording and caring for the papers showing how and when your children's money is spent.

Thus you will see the great necessity for careful and correct work. In order to do this, the Clerk must have a thorough knowledge of Probate law to safeguard the rights of those having occasion to come to this office.

THE MAN AND HIS EXPERIENCE—

Mr. Wheeler has been Chief Deputy in this office for the past four years, and possesses all of the qualifications to give to the people a SAFE, EFFICIENT and COURTEOUS administration. Mr. Wheeler earnestly solicits your vote.

THE TIME AND PLACE—

APRIL 11th, 1922, 6 A.M. to 5 P.M., Your Voting Precinct.

OPPRESSIVE TAXATION

In the face of lower living costs and the demands of the public for relief from unnecessary burdens, the appropriations under the present administration are $4,316,577.72 HIGHER than during a like period under Governor Lowden. Richard J. Barr, who claims leadership of the Senate, was Chairman of the Appropriations Committee under the present administration, and cannot escape the responsibility for the following increases:

Registration and Education	- $ 198,511.00
Public Works and Buildings	- 864,614.72
Mines and Minerals	- 68,295.00
Trade and Commerce	- 1,057,620.00
Agriculture	- 1,092,780.00

Public Welfare	- 250,385.00
Public Health	- 457,849.00
	$4,316,577.72

A study of the State appropriations show increases by leaps and bounds for salaries and for the creation of jobs, including a host of inspectors and investigators in various departments.

Do the people want to continue such "leadership"?

If you want every possible mile of State Aid Road,

If you want relief from the present oppressive taxation brought on by the "leadership" of the present Senator,

"More and Better Stories!"

THAT was the idea we had when we started to make "Telling Tales" Magazine, and we have lived up to it.

Every month there are from a dozen to fifteen complete short stories by such writers as Octavus Roy Cohen, Achmed Abdullah, Henry Leverage, Thomas Edgewood, Christine Whiting, Katherine Mowatt, Rook, Margaret Sangster, Harry Kemp and Robert W. Sneddon. All of these are regular contributors to America's leading short-story magazine.

But don't take our word for it. We want you to know "Telling Tales" for yourself, and as a special inducement we are making the following offer:

"Telling Tales" is regularly 35c. a copy—$3.00 a year, but to give you a chance to get acquainted with it, here's what we'll do. Send a quarter for one issue—the regular price—and we will send THREE copies instead of the one you paid for. This offer is for a limited time only. The post office won't allow us to make it indefinite. Act to-day. Send us 25c. in stamps, and receive 75c. worth of magazines.

$525 IN PRIZES FOR THE BEST RHYMES

A new contest is just being started which will interest every woman and girl who reads this paper. Any woman or girl can enter this Contest—anyone can win! All one has to do is to write a 4-line rhyme on Dr. Price's Phosphate Baking Powder, using only the words which appear either on the label of the Dr. Price can (front and back) or on the printed slip which is found in each Dr. Price can.

Isn't that easy? Everyone likes to make rhymes and here is a chance to spend a fascinating hour or two writing rhymes on this popular Baking Powder and perhaps winning a substantial prize for your efforts.

59 CASH PRIZES

For the rhyme selected as best a prize of $100 will be given; for the second, third and fourth best rhymes prizes of $75, $50 and $25, respectively will be given. And besides these prizes there will be 55 prizes of $5 each for the next 55 best rhymes. With such a long list of prizes as these, it would be a pity not to try your hand at it!

Here is a 4-line rhyme as an example:

Two teaspoons of this powder make
Biscuits, muffins, pie or cake,
The Price's Co., guarantee
No alum in the cans to be.

As Dr. Price's Phosphate Baking Powder sells for only 25 cents a 12 oz. can at grocery stores, some rhymes could play up the remarkable economy of this pure and wholesome baking powder which contains no alum.

All rhymes must be received by May 1, 1922. Only words appearing either on the label of the Dr. Price can (front and back) or on the printed slip contained inside the can may be used. These words may be used as often as desired, but no other words will be allowed. If you haven't a can of Dr. Price's, a copy of the label and the printed slip will be sent to you free upon request.

Any woman or girl may enter the Contest, but only one rhyme from each person will be considered. In case of ties, the full amount of the prize will be given to each tying contestant. Write plainly on only one side of a sheet of paper and be sure to give your name and address.

Send your rhyme before May 1st to Price Baking Powder Factory, 1009 Independence Blvd., Chicago, Ill.—Advertisement.

Take Yeast Vitamon Tablets To Round Out Face and Figure With Firm Flesh

If you are hollow-cheeked, sallow-skinned, sunken-chested and generally weak or run down and want to round out your face and figure to pleasing and normal proportions you will find this simple test well worth trying: First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Next take Mastin's VITAMON—two tablets with every meal. Then weigh and measure yourself again each week and continue taking Mastin's VITAMON regularly until you are satisfied with your gain in weight and energy. Mastin's VITAMON tablets contain highly concentrated yeast-vitamins as well as the two other still more important vitamins (Fat Soluble A and Water Soluble C) together with organic iron and real lime salts. They will not upset the stomach or cause gas, but on the contrary are a great aid to digestion, to overcome constipation and as a general conditioner of the whole system. Pimples, boils and skin eruptions seem to vanish like magic under its purifying influence, the complexion becomes fresh and beautiful, the cheeks rosy instead of pale, the lips red instead of colorless, the eyes bright instead of dull. So rapid and amazing are the results that thousands of people everywhere are now taking them as a quick way to put on weight and increase energy. Be sure to remember the name Mastin's VITAMON—the original and genuine yeast-vitamine tablet—there is nothing else like it so do not accept imitations or substitutes. You can get Mastin's VITAMON at any drugist.

This unique proceeding on Cookie's part necessarily awoke the interest both of the recovered Cuthbert Vane, just emerging after his prolonged slumbers, and of the trio who had at that moment returned from the woods. Impertinent for an explanation, Cookie arose from his devotional posture and put the portentous query:

"Mistah Vane, sah, he dey any propah coffin-wood on dis yere island?"

Instantly connecting my absence with this terrible question, Aunt Jane shrieked and fell into the arms of Aunt Jane Shrieked and Fell into the Arms of Mr. Tubbs.

Mr. Tubbs. I got the story from Cuthbert Vane, and I must say I was unpleasantly struck by the facility with which my aunt seemed to have fallen into Mr. Tubbs' embrace—as if with the ease of habit. Mr. Tubbs, it appeared, had staggered a little under his fair burden, which was not to be wondered at, for Aunt Jane is of an overflowing style of figure and Mr. Tubbs more remarkable for brain than brawn. Violet, however, remained admirably calm, and exhorted Aunt Jane to remember that whatever happened it was all for the best.

"Poor Violet," I commented. "To think that, after all, it didn't happen!" A slow flush rose to the cheeks of the beautiful youth. He was sitting beside the hammock, where I was supposed to be recuperating.

"It would have happened, though," said the Honorable Cuthbert solemnly, "if it hadn't been for old Shaw. I can't get over it, Vir—Miss Virginia, that I wasn't on deck myself, you know. Here's old Dugald been doing the heroic all his life, and now he gets his chance again while I'm sleeping off those bally coconuts. It's hard on a chap. I—I wish it had been me."

However dubious his grammar, there was no mistaking the look that brightened like the dawn in the depths of his clear eyes. My breath went from me suddenly.

"Oh," I cried excitedly, "isn't that—yes, I thought it was the dinner gong!"

For, as if in response to my dire need, the clang of Cookie's gong echoed through the island silences.

CHAPTER IX.

What Crusoe and I Found.

When after those poignant moments in the boat I met Dugald Shaw in commonplace fashion at the table, a sudden, queer, altogether unprecedented shyness seized me. I sat looking down at my plate with the gaucherie of a silly child.

During the meal Mr. Shaw asked Captain Magnus if he had had good sport on the other side of the island. Captain Magnus, as usual, had seemed to feel that time consecrated to eating was wasted in conversation. At this point-blank question he started confusedly, stuttered, and finally explained that though he had taken a rifle he had carried along pistol cartridges, so had come home with an empty bag.

At this moment I happened to be looking at Cookie, who was setting down a dish before Mr. Tubbs. The negro started visibly, and rolled his eyes at Captain Magnus with astonishment depicted in every dusky feature. He said nothing, although went to take part in our conversation as it suited him, but I saw him shake his great grizzled head in a disturbed and puzzled fashion as he turned away.

After this a chill settled on the table. You felt a disturbance in the air, as though wireless currents were crossing and recrossing in general confusion.

As I passed Cookie at his dishpan, after dinner, a sudden thought struck me.

"Cookie," I remarked, "you had a frightfully queer look just now when Captain Magnus told about having taken the wrong cartridges. What was the matter?"

Cookie took his hands out of the water and wiped off the suds, casting about stealthy and mysterious glances. Then he rolled a dubious eye at me.

"What was it, Cookie?" I urged.

"War am Cap'n now?"

"Down on the beach; he can't possibly hear you."

"You won't say nothin' to git Cookie in a rumpus?"

"Cross my heart to die, Cookie."

"Well, den"—Cookie spoke in a hoarse whisper—"Cap'n say he forgit to take his gun cartridges. Miss Jinny, when he come back, I see him empty his gun cartridges out'n his belt and put back his pistol cartridges. So dere now!"

I turned from Cookie, too surprised to speak. Why had Captain Magnus been at pains to invent a lie about so trivial a matter? I recalled, too, that Mr. Shaw's question had confused him, that he had hesitated and stammered before answering it. Why? Was he a bad shot and ashamed of it? Had he preferred to say that he had taken the wrong ammunition rather than admit that he could get no bag? That must be the explanation, because there was no other. Certainly no imaginable errand but the one assigned could have taken the captain to the other side of the island.

Several days went by, and still the treasure was unfound. Of course, as the unexplored space in the cave contracted, so daily the probability grew stronger that Fortune would shed her golden smile upon us before night. Nevertheless, it seemed to me that the optimistic spirits of most were beginning to flag a little. Only Mr. Shaw, though bidden as a confirmed doubter and pessimist, now by the exercise of will kept the others to their task. As for Captain Magnus, his restlessness was manifest. Several times he had suggested blowing the lid off the island with dynamite as the shortest method of getting at the gold. He was always vanishing on solitary excursions inland.

Mr. Tubbs remarked, scornfully, that a man with a nose for money ought to have smelled out the chest before this, but if his own nasal powers were of that character he did not offer to employ them in the service of the expedition. Miss Higheysy-Browne, however, had taken to retiring to the hut for long private sessions with herself. My aunt reverentially explained their purpose. The hiding-place of the chest being of course known to the Universal Wisdom, all Violet had to do was to put herself in harmony and the knowledge would be hers. The difficulty was that you had first to overcome your Mundane Consciousness. To accomplish this Violet was struggling in the hut.

After my meeting with Captain Magnus in the forest, Lookout ridge was barred to me. Crusoe and I must do our rambling in other directions. This being so, I bethought me again of the wrecked sloop lying under the cliffs on the north shore of the cove. I remembered that there had seemed to be a way down the cliffs. I resolved to visit the sloop again. The terrible practicability of the beautiful youth made it difficult to indulge in romantic musings in his presence. And to me a derelict brings a keener tinge of romance than any other relic of man's multitudinous and futile strivings.

The descent of the gully proved an easy matter, and soon I was on the sand beside the derelict. Sand had heaped up around her hull, and filled her cockpit level with the rail, and drifted down the companion, stuffing the little cabin nearly to the roof. Only the bow rose free from the white smother of sand. Whatever wounds there were in her buried sides were hidden. You felt that some wild caprice of the storm had lifted her and set her down here, not too roughly, then whirled away and left her to the sand.

Crusoe slipped into the narrow space

under the roof of the cabin, and I leaned idly down to watch him through a warped seam between the planks. Then I found that I was looking, not at Crusoe, but into a little dim inclosure like a locker, in which some small object faintly caught the light. With a revived hope of finding relics, I got out my knife—a present from Cuthbert Vane—and set briskly to work widening the seam.

I penetrated finally into a small locker or cubby-hole, set in the angle under the roof of the cabin, and, as subsequent investigation showed, so placed as to attract no notice from the casual eye. I ascertained this by lying down and wriggling my head and shoulders into the cabin. In other words, I had happened on a little private depository, in which the owner of the sloop might stow away certain small matters that concerned him intimately. Yet the contents of the locker at first seemed trifling. They were an old-fashioned chased silver shoe-buckle, and a brown-covered manuscript book.

The book had suffered much from dampness, whether of rains or the wash of the sea. I seated myself on the cabin roof, extracted a hairpin, and began carefully separating the close-written pages. The first three or four were quite illegible, the ink having run. Then the writing became clearer. I made out a word here and there:

"...directions vague...my grandfather—man a rufian but...no motive...police of Havana...frightful den...grandfather made sure...registry...Bonny Lass..."

And at that I gave a small excited shriek which brought Crusoe to me in a hurry. What had he to do, the writer of this journal, what had he to do with the Bonny Lass?

Breathlessly I read on:

"...thought captain still living but not sure...lost...Benito Bon..."

I closed the book. Now, while the coast was clear, I must get back to camp. It would take hours, perhaps days, to decipher the journal which had suddenly become of such supreme importance. I must smuggle it unobserved into my own quarters, where I could read at my leisure. As I set out I dropped the silver shoe-buckle into my pocket, smiling to think that it was I who had discovered the first bit of precious metal on the island. Yet the book in my hand, I felt instinctively, was of more value than many shoe-buckles.

Safely in my hammock, with a pillow under which I could slip the book in case of interruption, I resumed the reading. From this point on, although the writing was somewhat faded, it was all, with a little effort, legible.

THE DIARY.

"If Sampson did live to tell his secret, then any day there may be a sail in the offing. And still I cannot find it! Oh, if my grandfather had been more worldly wise! If he hadn't been too intent on the eternal welfare of the man he rescued from the Havana tavern brawl to question him about his story. A cave on Leeward island—nearly a stone marked with the letters B. H. and a cross-bones—I told the captain, said the poor dying wretch, 'we wouldn't have no luck after playing it that low down on Bill!' So I presume Bill lies under the stone."

"Well, all I have is in this venture. The old farm paid for the Island Queen—or will, if I don't get back in time to prevent foreclosure. All my staid New England relatives think me mad. A copra gatherer! A fine career for a minister's son! Well, when I get home with my Spanish doubloons there will be another story to tell. I won't be poor crazy Peter then. And Helen—oh, how often I wish I had told her everything! It was too much to ask her to trust me blindly as I did. But from that moment I came across the story in grandfather's old, half-forgotten diary—by the way, the diary habit seems to run in the family—a very passion of secrecy has possessed me. If I had told Helen, I should have had to dread that even in her sweet sleep she might whisper something to put that ferret, her stepmother, on the scent. Oh, Helen, trust me, trust me!"

"December 25. I have a calendar with me, so I am not reduced to notching a stick to keep track of the days. I mark off each carefully in the calendar. If I were to forget to do this, even for a day or two, I believe I should quite lose track. The days are so terribly alike!"

"My predecessor here in the copra-gathering business, old Heintz, really left me a very snug establishment. It was odd that I should have run across him at Panama that way."

"Christmas Day! I wonder what they are all doing at home?"

Cleaning Marble.

To clean marble mix with water five parts of soda, two and a half parts of powdered chalk and two and a half parts of pumice stone (powdered); spread on the marble and wash off with soap and water. The consistency of the mixture when applied should be that of a thin paste.

KIND SLIPPERY ELM

"You've asked me to make a speech about the ways of the Slippery Elm," the Slippery Elm said.

"We have," said Billie Brownie, "and we are all waiting to hear it."

All of the Brownies sat under a Slippery Elm tree and listened.

"Sometimes I'm called a Moose Elm," the Slippery Elm began.

"Funny name," said Bennie Brownie.

"Hush, Bennie," said Billie. "You mustn't interrupt when anyone is telling a story."

"But I want to know what it means, or why they ever call the Slippery Elm by that name."

"Yes, I'll forgive you," laughed Billie, "for you wanted to be well informed, which, in other words, means that you wanted to be taught and to learn a lot."

"Do tell us, Slippery Elm, what everything means which you think we might not otherwise understand."

"I have been called a Moose Elm because the animal known as the Moose is fond of the Slippery Elm shoots."

"But, for that matter, I don't see why I haven't been called a Boy Elm."

"Boys are very fond of the bark of the young shoots of my family. They like the sweet bark which is to be found there and they like to chew it."

"Even girls like it, too. I do believe that they should sometimes call us Girl Elm and Boy Elm, as well as Slippery Elm and Moose Elm."

"We're called the Red Elm at times, because our wood is red."

"The sweet bark is juicy, as well as pleasing in other ways. If they would only take the bark from the limbs it wouldn't do as much harm as it does when they take it from the young shoots."

"In the spring, how the boys and girls do go after the Slippery Elm shoots! Dear, dear me, how they do like us!"

"Our inside bark has been used to make poultices for sore throats and sore chests. Chewing slippery elm is supposed to be good for a sore throat or a cold. In fact, we are like doctors, we're so good at healing."

"And we're pleasant to taste. I don't mean that doctors are, for no one really knows. Doctors are never tasted as we are. The doctors give medicine for people to swallow, and it is often very bad tasting medicine, I've heard. We're different from the American Elm, for we have rough leaves, with stiff hairs growing on them."

"We don't in the least care for style. Sometimes our branches stick out on one side and not on another, and we do all sorts of queer things like that."

"We grow to be very tall if we're not entirely used up before we get a good start at growing."

"But it is nice to be a tree which gives pleasure in the way of cool shade and which is used for lumber, and which does well this way, too."

"And it is especially nice to think of how much good we can do in sickness, and how much pleasure we can give."

"I'm very glad I'm a Slippery Elm and not a Winged Elm, which just cares for beauty. The Winged Elm is small and very pretty, but it doesn't do the fine work in its tree life that I do."

"Yes, I'm thankful I'm a Slippery Elm."

"And now my speech is over, Brownies, and I must say you have been good listeners."

"You've made an excellent speech," said Billie Brownie, as he rose to thank the Slippery Elm.

"I have found it a fine speech," said Bennie Brownie.

"We've all been delighted with the speech," said the Brownies in chorus. "And we thank you mightily and much," they added.

"It isn't always, if ever, correct to say we thank you 'much,' I know," Billie Brownie said, afterward, "but we wanted some special and unusual way of thanking you, Slippery Elm tree!"

Mrs. Emma Gunter

Decatur, Ill.—"At various times during my married life I have been greatly benefited by two of Dr. Pierce's medicines, Golden Medical Discovery and Favorite Prescription. The Golden Medical Discovery restored me to health at one time when I had a deep-seated bronchial cough and was in a weakened, debilitated state of health; and during one of my expectant periods Favorite Prescription proved not only to be a splendid tonic and nerve but I had practically no suffering. It is a pleasure to recommend medicines so reliable as Dr. Pierce's and I do so at every opportunity."—Mrs. Emma Gunter, 1228 N. Calhoun St.

RELIC OF PREHISTORIC RACE

Discovery of Lake Village Near Glasstonbury, England, Has Awakened Much Interest There.

Much interest was awakened in England not so long ago by the discovery of a prehistoric lake village near Glasstonbury, the New York Herald reports. The dwellings were placed on mounds of clay and raised above the level of the water. The framework of a primitive loom was found under one mound, and the number of broken bone needles and bone splinters discovered in another mound may have been the site of an ancient needle factory.

Few human bones were discovered, but among the interesting finds was a blue glass bead with a waving dark line running round it. One of the mounds contains 300 tons of clay, all of which must have been dug from the surrounding hills and carried to the spot in boats.

Before Disarmament.

The edifying tale of little George Washington and the cherry tree had been related by a fond mother to her offspring with the hope that he might gain inspiration for a better life, but he remained unimpressed.

"Don't you see the lesson, Billy?" she asked. "George could not tell a lie. He told the truth even though his father stood there with a cane in his hand."

"Huh!" said Billy. "That's nothin'. George had the hatchet, didn't he?"—American Legion Weekly.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

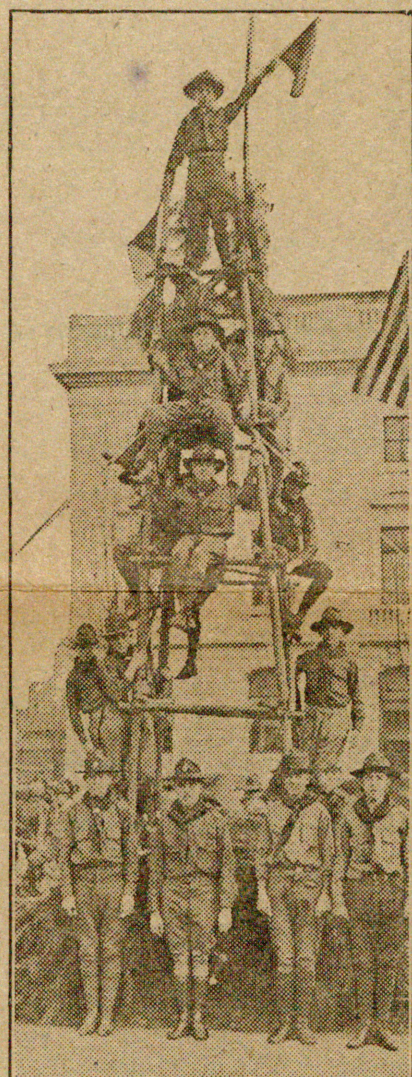

MOST POPULAR SCOUT BADGES

For the past five years the most popular merit badges among scouts have been those in public and personal health, swimming, firemanship and first aid, though sometimes one and sometimes another leads the list. During 1921, public health was the most popular, 7,465 scouts qualifying in that subject in the one year, whereas 7,325 qualified in personal health, 7,141 in firemanship, 6,620 in swimming and 5,837 in first aid. It is noteworthy that every one of these five popular badges are those on subjects which constitute marked steps in the making of a healthy, responsible and helpful citizenry.

In spite of the greater stringency of demands made by the national court of honor in the cases of life-saving applications, the number of medals awarded during 1921 for conspicuous service was greater than ever before, totaling 147, against 92 of the past year and 55 of the year before. Three gold medals were awarded as follows: Thomas H. Robinson, Camden, N. J.; Howard Rate of Vineland, N. J., and Henry A. Skilton of Wilmington, Del. Scout Robinson lost his life in saving that of his friend.

Henceforth there will be only one type of medal awarded by the national court of honor in place of the three grades of gold, silver and bronze hitherto awarded. The new design, which will be worked out in gold, was designed by Belmore Broune, artist, traveler and scout man.

En Passant.

"The big bum," explained the shrimp for the benefit of a group of friends, "the big bum was standing on the corner when I passed by with several ladies. He saw me and I said to him in passing:

"Don't speak to me in public," I said, "because if you do I'll just bust your face on the sidewalk."

But the same big bum happened to overhear the shrimp relating the incident.

"You said all this to me in passing?" he demanded, threateningly.

"Y-y-yes," stammered the shrimp. "But we were passing in a car at about 50 miles an hour."

Where Patience Is No Virtue.

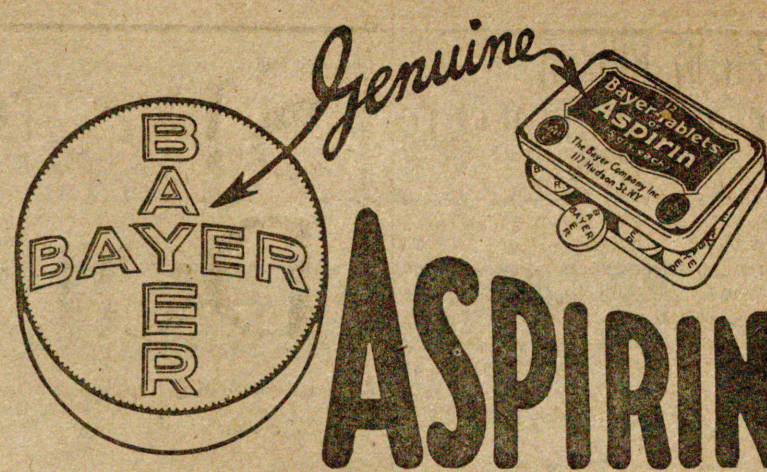

The absent-minded friend drove her car into town last week. Following the traffic she turned into a side street and came to a standstill behind a line of motors.

Remaining stationary until her patience was exhausted, she honked her horn to its fullest extent. The result proving unsatisfactory she tried it again.

"Hey, there, lady," came the voice of the irate officer, "if you'll come out of the taxicab stand you'll get across."

land similar to that which through many years has yielded from 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre—oats, barley and flax also in great abundance, while raising horses, cattle, sheep and hogs is equally profitable. Hundreds of farmers in western Canada have raised crops in a single season worth more than the whole cost of their land. With such success comes prosperity, independence, good homes and all the comforts and conveniences which make life worth living.

Artisans Who Love Beauty.

In Lafayette, Ind., the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paper-hangers has issued a brochure descriptive of their four-story office building erected in that city. The building is in the Italian style of architecture—peculiarly appropriate for the home of an organization interested in the decorative arts. It is stated that the "color effects attained in the building are evidence that this age has developed not only marvelous materials to work with, but the artistic genius to put these materials together beautifully."

Speaking of Farms.

I was out with a number of young married people who were talking about farm improvement. One man spoke of having to buy a silo, and said they cost so much.

Of course, I thought it was like a thrashing machine and said: "Why can't you borrow one?"

Every one started to laugh. Then they explained to me what a silo was.—Exchange.

Difficult to Comprehend.

Father was trying to explain "Standard time" to little Harry, but Harry was not sure that he understood.

"After all, it is no great matter," said father.

"You are now only in the fourth grade. When you have gone to school longer, you will learn all about it."

"Maybe so," said Harry with a reassuring smile. "The teacher says that even lots of eighth-grade boys and girls don't understand longitude and latitude."—Wayside Tales.

Built by Boy Scouts.

The lodge house of the W. W. W. at Treasure Island is said to be the finest building ever erected by the boy scouts anywhere. The work was done entirely by the scouts and it is a proof of the value and permanency of the order. The building is about 30 by 45 feet, two stories high with two large porches. It will be filled with mementoes.

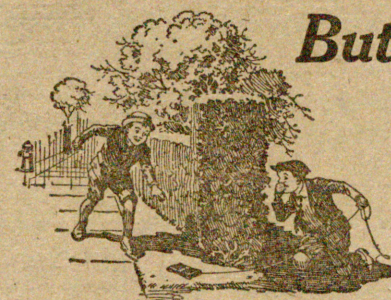

Didn't Suit Her.

Betty, who is chatty, was spending the day alone with grandma. After several hours she became noticeably gloomy, and grandma inquired what was the matter. "Well, I don't like it here," she said. "I'm going away. I don't like a one-people's house."

William found a pocketbook But the string jerked it back

It looked like a happy discovery as it lay there on the sidewalk—until the discoverer reached to pick it up. Then the hidden string jerked it away. All William got was disappointment.

That's the way a good many people have found it to be with the comfort and cheer they thought they had secured in tea and coffee. When they came to depend on it—there was a hidden string, and nothing left but disappointment.

The drug, caffeine, in tea and coffee, is a nerve stimulant. Constant stimulation of the nerves often produces rebellion that takes the form of sleeplessness, headaches, irritability, high blood pressure. That's the string to tea and coffee.

Postum, that wholesome and delightful cereal beverage, is completely satisfying and there's no harmful quality whatsoever, to jerk away the comfort which you find in this splendid table drink. Any member of the family may enjoy Postum with any meal—and there will be no after-regrets.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes. Sold by grocers.

In a factory devoted exclusively to manufacturing Goodyear Tires for small cars, the two tires illustrated above are made.

One is the famous 30x3½ Goodyear All-Weather Tread Clincher.

By long wear, superior traction, freedom from skidding, and ultimate economy, the Goodyear All-Weather Tread has won unquestioned leadership.

As a companion to this tire there is the Goodyear 30 x 3½ Cross Rib.

Built of the same high grade Egyptian fabric and with a long wearing but differently designed tread, this tire offers unusual value.

Over 5,000,000 of these tires have been sold in the last five years.

Their quality and serviceability have proved to thousands of motorists the folly of buying unknown and unguaranteed tires of lower price. Ask your Goodyear Service Station Dealer to explain their advantages.

TRIED and TRUE RICHARD J. BARR For State Senator

As your representative in the State Senate, Richard J. Barr has attained a position of acknowledged LEADERSHIP. He is Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, the most important in the State.

GOOD ROADS

Senator Barr has been active in securing for this district a splendid system of GOOD ROADS. He is now making great progress in having these roads constructed. Many more miles of hard road are yet to be selected and built in this district. For this reason Senator Barr's experience and leadership in the State Senate are invaluable to the people of this district.

During the coming term of the Legislature many issues of vital importance to the people of this District will come up for attention. In fact, because of the new State Constitution which will probably be adopted—the next session of the State Senate will be the most important in FIFTY YEARS. It is therefore, of the utmost importance that this district be represented by a man of Richard J. Barr's experience—a REAL LEADER in State affairs.

Addison M. Shelton, Republican candidate for State Superintendent of Public Instruction, believes the above are the school issues before the people of Illinois which must be solved before Illinois can be raised from twenty-fourth place in education among the states (which she now occupies) to first rank.

His candidacy has received favor among people of all classes who want to bring about a solution of the practical school problems now confronting our state.

Gov. Small made him president of the Illinois Educational Commission, selecting him from among all the men in the state best fitted to study these problems.

He will report to the next legislature and should be elected State Superintendent of Public Instruction to most effectively continue the work he has begun.

He is being endorsed by school men, business and professional men, labor organizations and farmers, who all believe he is the logical man to solve these problems.

Joons there will be known. I tell. I won't be poor crazy Peter then. And Helen—oh, how often I wish I had told her everything! It was too much to ask her to trust me blindly as I did. But from that moment I came across the story in grandfather's old, half-forgotten diary—by the way, the diary habit seems to run in the family—a very passion of secrecy has possessed me. If I had told Helen, I should have had to dread that even in her sweet sleep she might whisper something to put the ferret, her stepmother, on the scent. Oh, Helen, trust me, trust me!
